Quantitative Finance: Its Development, Mathematical Foundations, and Current Scope

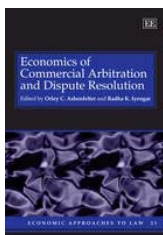

ril. 9780470431993

Lst 71,95 pagg. 424;

Wiley (01/03/2009)

Economia / Economics

This book presents a course in quantitative finance, including exercises and worked solutions. It emphasizes instruction and technique in covering the essential topics for a quantitative finance survey course: portfolio theory, decision theory, pricing of primary assets, pricing of derivatives, and the empirical behavior of prices. This resource adheres to a self-teaching presentation style, and presents math tools only as their applications are required. Important formulas and derivations are worked out in enough detail so that readers learn associated techniques as well as results

Homeownership and the Labour Market in Europe

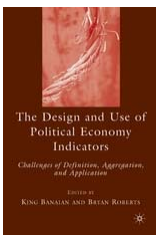

ril. 9780199543946 Lst 55 pagg. 256;

Oxford U.P. (01/03/2009)

Economia Del Lavoro / Labour Economics

Increasing labour market flexibility is at the top of the European agenda. A new and challenging view is a lack of mobility in the labour market may arise from rigidities in the housing market. The research in this book has been inspired by the intriguing hypothesis put forward by Andrew Oswald that homeownership may be a hindrance to the smooth working of the labour markets, as homeowners tend to be less willing to accept jobs outside their own region

The Design and Use of Political Economy Indicators

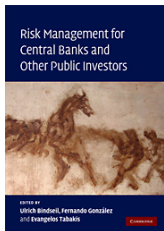

Challenges of Definition, Aggregation, and Application

ril. 9780230600836 Lst 42,50 pagg. 240;

Palgrave Macmillan (12/12/2008)

Economia Finanziaria / Financial Economics

This book addresses a need: the most commonly employed Political Economy Indicators (PEIs) frequently give little useful information and lead to problematic results. This volume will examine measurement issues, relate PEIs to economic theory, and suggest better measures than at present. It is relevant for practitioners: the editors will deliver chapters that are readable for policy makers and journalists as well as economists. This edited volume seeks to provide a critical and technical look at international political economic indices (PEIs). It examines measurement issues, relates PEIs to economic theory, and suggests better measures than those currently used.

Risk Management for Central Banks and Other Public Investors

ril. 9780521518567 Lst 75 pagg. 540; illustrazioni: 54;

Cambridge U.P. (01/01/2009)

Economia Finanziaria / Financial Economics

Domestic and foreign financial assets of all central banks and public wealth funds world wide are estimated to have reached more than 10 trillion US dollars in 2007. How do these institutions manage such unprecedented growth in their financial assets and how have they responded to the 'revolution' of risk management techniques during the last fifteen years? This book surveys the fundamental issues and techniques associated with risk management and shows how central banks and other public investors can create better risk management systems

China, India And Beyond - Development Drivers and Limitations

Series: Global Development Network Series

ril. 978184720695 Lst 69,95 pagg. 296;

Edward Elgar Publishing (01/01/2009)

Scienze Economiche / Economics

China, India and Beyond challenges the widespread belief that China and India will be the driving forces of the global economy in the twenty-first century. Scholars of these two countries offer scenarios ranging from buoyant to subdued to negative, depending on how they evaluate the drivers of development (market-oriented reforms, global integration and investment in human capital), and its limitations (infrastructure bottlenecks, environmental degradation and institutional frailties)

Growth and Innovation of Competitive Regions - The Role of Internal and External Connections

Series: Advances in Spatial Science

ril. 9783540709237

Eur 103,95 pagg. 370;

Springer Verlag (15/10/2008)

Scienze Economiche / Economics

This volume investigates the dynamics of regional performance in advanced countries and the mechanisms that allow some regions to grow more rapidly than others, to become and remain more competitive in the long run. The authors show how the capability of regions to innovate is enhanced by a large number of factors, including entrepreneurship, clustering, creativity, new technologies, human capital and the presence of internal, intra-regional, and external, extra-regional, connections.
